

What is claimed is:

1. A pH test stick, wherein by partially bonding the pH test paper to a water-repelling mounting paper, a gap is formed between a separated portion of the pH test paper and the mounting paper, so that a test solution flows into this gap.